

NO REAL RELIEF FROM COLD DUE HERE FOR DAYS

Mercury Rises But Wave Is Expected To Stay on for Some Time.

A grip on Marion and rest of Ohio relaxed somewhat over the week-end, but no real relief was in sight today. The cold wave was partly blamed for the recent deaths in the state.

The government forecast is for continued cold tonight, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mostly clear weather is predicted for Friday and Tuesday with intermittent light snow.

Yesterday's Low Mark

Yesterday and last night the lowest point reached by Weather Bureau E. H. Rappensberger's thermometer was seven degrees below zero. The low was four degrees below zero yesterday. A year ago yesterday the low was from 12 to 18 above. The temperature here at noon today was 12 above.

St. Mary's Parochial grade and high school was not resumed this morning because of the cold weather. School was dismissed Tuesday noon. Classes will be resumed Tuesday morning.

"There is no appreciable relief in sight for some time," Meteorologist R. C. Mize told The Associated Press at Cleveland.

"It will be about the same tonight and last night and, if it keeps the temperature may go a little lower. More snow flurries are probable too."

Last night's low temperatures, all above zero, were: Columbus & Cincinnati 9, Akron 11, Cleveland 14, Youngstown 11.

Roads Generally Clear

Snow was light and all roads were in good condition although there were some drifts in the Lake Erie district.

The continued cold was partly responsible for 22 deaths over the week-end, bringing to 34 the state's accidental fatalities during the present cold wave.

Of the larger total, traffic-related deaths claimed 16 victims, fires claimed three, falls two, hypothermia two, and explosions two.

Week-end fires resulted in five deaths, two at Middletown, two near Steubenville, and one at Springfield.

Mrs. Mabel M. McCroly, 42, was killed by a water heater explosion near Bowling Green, and a Portsmouth woman died in a house explosion.

Victims of the week-end were found in various places. One was found in a garage at Cincinnati. Corporal Frank M. Coppock Jr., said their deaths were accidental. At Cleveland a woman was found in an apartment entrance.

Mary Jane Wilson, 18, and her sister, Edie, 12, met death in an auto-train collision at Piquette. Victor, 11, was decapitated by a freight train at Portsmouth.

Fire was gathering coal in the Norfolk railroad yard yesterday. Fire investigators were fatally injured by automobiles.

BROWDER FACES JURY TO PLEAD OWN CASE

Communist Leader Avoids Witness Stand at Trial.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Earl Browder, national Communist leader, summed up his own case today in his trial on charges of passport fraud.

Standing calmly before a jury of 11 men and one woman, Browder said at the outset that he had no objection that he was a "better lawyer than my attorney (George G. Biddle)."

"My qualifications to argue the case are that I am infinitely familiar with the facts and that I have a law degree—a degree obtained from a correspondence school," he said.

Browder took personal charge of his case after his attorney made a series of motions for dismissal on the indictment on the ground that the government had failed to prove its charges. All of his motions were denied by Federal Judge Cox.

The Communist leader did not testify in his own defense, nor did his lawyer call any other witnesses.

Browder, holding a sheaf of papers, summed up his case briefly and quickly.

"I told the jury he believed the case was being handled in an unfair and immoral manner."

PENNSY TRAIN DERAILED

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 22—Pennsylvania railroad officials today started an investigation to determine what caused derailment of a 90-car freight train 10 miles west of here Saturday night. The crew escaped injury, but the accident forced the road to divert 15 passenger trains from Cleveland and then to divert over Big Four railroad tracks. Cars which left the tracks were loaded with fuel oil, lumber and coal.

6 FIRES LISTED OVER WEEK-END

Crossing Watchman's Shanty Destroyed; Others Cause Little Damage.

A fire blamed by firemen on an overheated stove destroyed a watchman's shanty at the Big Four railroad crossing on North Greenwood street early yesterday, resulting in a loss estimated by Fire Chief McFarland at $100.

Firemen answered five other calls over the week-end but virtually no damage resulted.

The shanty burned shortly before 5 o'clock while no one was on duty. Chief McFarland said flames had engulfed the little building before firemen arrived and that it burned to the ground within a few minutes. There was no watchman on duty at the crossing between midnight and 6 a. m.

Smoke Fills House

A wooden box ignited in the basement of the Charles G. Ritzler home at 484 South Prospect street Saturday afternoon, filling the house with smoke. Firemen from the Central station extinguished the fire. Chief McFarland said Mr. Ritzler had burned limbs from a Christmas tree in the furnace and that apparently one of these limbs dropped into the wooden box.

Firemen from the West Side station were called to the home of Fireman Edgar D. Cook at 135 Olney avenue for the second time within a week when a joint caught fire in the basement Saturday afternoon. A plumber had been thawing out frozen water pipes and apparently flames from his torch ignited the joist, firemen reported. Only minor damage resulted. Recently an overheated chimney resulted in minor damage at the Cook home.

Dust, Lint Ignite

Firemen from the West Side station also were called to the Thomas Conroy home at 857 Oak Grove avenue Saturday afternoon when dust and lint ignited in four hot air registers in downstairs rooms. No damage resulted.

A large section of canvas on the back porch of the Wilbur Miller residence on West Fairground street caught fire about 7 p. m. Saturday but was extinguished by firemen from the West Side station before extensive damage resulted. The cause was not determined.

Firemen from the Central and North Side stations were called to the Pure Oil Co. filling station at Main and Mark streets about 8:30 a. m. today when the station became filled with gas fumes. Chief McFarland said that a broom hot water tank and that the gas burner and caused the fumes to escape. The firemen turned off the gas.

Founded Business Here in 1870; Funeral Set for Tuesday.

Marion's oldest active merchant, John H. Stoll, died yesterday at 3:40 p. m. at his home at 315 Mt. Vernon avenue after a week's critical illness. He was 86 years of age.

Monday, Dec. 18, he spent his last day in the John H. Stoll Shoe Co. store at 132 South Main street, the business he established at the age of 17. Several weeks ago in firmities of age began to take their toll and he was bedfast the last week of his illness.

The dean of Marion business men came to Marion from Wooster as a lad of 43. At that time the city boasted a population of 2,500. Four years later, in September of 1870, he started in the shoe business at the present location, after serving an eight-month apprenticeship with P. B. Thompson.

With the exception of one year in 1872, when the business was moved to the present location of the Isaly store on South Main street, the Stoll store has always been at the same address. Originally the company was known as Stoll & Terry Co.

Store Closed Till Wednesday

The store, which will continue to operate under the present name, will be closed until Wednesday morning.

Mr. Stoll's son, Howard R. Stoll, has been in business with his father since 1899, the two conducting the business as a private partnership.

The span of more than three-score years in which Mr. Stoll served Marion witnessed not only the growth of business and industry in the city, but also saw a revolution in the business in which he was engaged.

The first pair of shoes he sold was a pair of serge, or Purnell shoes. When he started in business all footwear was made by hand. Several years later a machine was perfected to make women's shoes. About 1875 men began to discard boots for shoes, at about the time that "razor" cut shoes were in vogue among the women. Shortly after the turn of the century the "oxford" style came in for women.

From 1870 to 1883 Mr. Stoll made all his shoes on the bench. At one time he was considered an expert on making shoes for cripples.

County's Oldest Taxpayer

Mr. Stoll was Marion county's oldest taxpayer, Treasurer Homer D. Cole said today in looking over his records. When he was 13 years of age he began making payments on the county tax for his father and the name of John H. Stoll is the first on the county records now in possession of the county treasurer's office.

He was born at Wooster, O., on Sept. 1, 1853, in the house where Mrs. Herbert Hoover's father was born and which was built by the former President's wife's grandfather. His parents were Michael Stoll, a native of Alsace, Germany, and his mother was Sarah Cornell Stoll, a native of Holmes county, Ohio. He was the second oldest of a family of 12 children and was the last of the family.

His marriage to Miss Harriet A. Robbins of Marion, took place on July 29, 1879, in Marion. The bride was the daughter of his father and the name of John H. Stoll is the first on the county records now in possession of the county treasurer's office.

$16,000 FIRE HITS OFFICES AT MARYSVILLE

Blaze at Loan Company Drives 3 Families from Three-Story Structure.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 22—An early morning fire, starting in the basement of the Citizens Federal Savings & Loan Co. office, resulted in damage estimated at $16,000 and drove three families from their third floor apartments before it was brought under control shortly before noon.

Eight volunteer Marysville firemen fought the blaze and laid seven hose lines into the three-story brick building. The Midford Center department responded to the call. George Slinger's call for assistance, when it was thought the flames might get beyond control.

Janitor Driven Out

The fire started about 7:30 near the furnace. Tony Soka, janitor, was in the basement. He saw a pile of waste-paper burst into flames and managed to hurl a bucket of water on the blaze before being driven back by the smoke, it was reported. He summoned the aid of O. L. Baker, who operates a grocery next door to the loan company and located in the same building.

Mr. Baker called the fire department and with Janitor Soka made another futile attempt to enter the basement. Firemen were hampered by the sub-freezing temperatures but subdued the flames and confined the damage to the section occupied by the loan company. They used special smoke masks to reach the interior.

Second floor law offices of the firm of Hoopes, Sanders & Hoopes, and the dentist's office of Dr. C. E. Brooks, were damaged by smoke. Third floor apartment residents were hustled from the building shortly after the fire broke out. Their living quarters were filled with smoke but none were endangered in leaving the building.

The brick structure, is located only a few doors from the square on West Fifth street and is known as the old Knights of Pythias building, having been constructed by the fraternal organization a number of years ago. It is now owned by Gwynn Sanders, a member of the law firm.

House Committee Votes To Continue Dies Probe

State Conference of V.F.W. Brings 600 Visitors Here

Governor Bricker and Heads of Organization Speak on Safeguarding Democracy, National Defense.

Commander-in-Chief Otis N. Brown of Greensboro, N. C., Gov. Bricker and State Commander Harold G. Skinner of Toledo shared the spotlight here Saturday night and yesterday at sessions of the annual Midwinter Conference of the Ohio Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

All three men spoke Saturday night at a banquet at the Masonic Temple at which more than 300 representatives from throughout the state were present. Mr. Brown was the principal speaker at a joint session of the veterans and members of the women's auxiliary at Central Junior High school yesterday afternoon.

The banquet Saturday night was followed by a military ball at Hotel Harding while yesterday morning was occupied with group instructional meetings and an initiatory ritual. Nearly 600 members of the V. F. W. and auxiliary attended the sessions despite the cold weather.

Urging the veterans' group to continue working for peace and democracy, Gov. Bricker declared that United States is the last stronghold of democracy and that all patriotic groups should work in unison to defend the nation's democratic principles.

"There is a lot of distress in our country, a lot of discord in the world today," he said. "The tigers are stirring about in the world tonight. The prospects for the future are not very bright—at least not in those countries where democracy has been scuttled or where it is being contaminated from within."

"Democracy has been lost in the world today except in United States and—1 hope—the allied nations of Europe now engaged in war. I hope that the war can be limited to a few countries and that the other nations will not have to suffer the shock of another World War."

After briefly outlining the economic and human costs of war, Gov. Bricker expressed the hope that United States might never again be called upon to take up arms.

Says Creative Work Needed

"America does not need defenders as much as it needs aggressive workers for the cause of democracy, which is being attacked throughout the world and in our very midst," the governor said.

"The thing that we need most today is a program of aggressive, vocal, working patriotism. United States is the last rampart of democracy and we are determined that in Ohio at least there will be preserved the elements of democracy which have permitted us to enjoy personal liberty generation after generation."

"By keeping out of the quarrels of Europe and defending our own democracy at home we can set an example and point out the way to the other nations of the world to peace, liberty and prosperity," he concluded.

Commander Skinner, who introduced Commander-in-Chief Brown, spoke briefly regarding the work done by the Ohio department during the last year and urged V. F. W. posts and other veteran groups increase their memberships as the first step towards unified action for peace and democracy.

Despite the fact that the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion and other veterans' organizations are leading the fight for democracy on American shores, less than 25 per cent of the men eligible belong to any of these organizations," he said.

Commander-in-Chief Talks

Commander-in-Chief Brown discussed the V. F. W. program for regaining pensions lost by disabled World War veterans under the National Economy Act of 1933, and urged deportation of aliens "who are unwilling to become American citizens or to uphold American ideals."

"There are 65,000 of our commander who are unable to be here tonight because they are conscripted by the government."

Attempt Made To Link Chairman with Christian Front.

FINAL ACTION SET

Pleas Rejected To Place Restrictions on Procedure of Body.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—The house rules committee voted today for continuation of the Dies committee investigation of un-American activities amid charges by Rep. Hook, Democrat of Michigan, that Chairman Dies, Democrat of Texas, has actively associated with "a prominent collaborator of the Christian Front."

A few minutes after the rules committee acted, Hook placed in the congressional record a statement which said that Dies frequently associated with Merwin K. Hart, whom he described as an energetic fellow-traveler of the Christian Front.

Sixteen members of that organization, Hook added, were arrested recently in a "fantastic plot" to overthrow the government.

The house is to pass on continuation of the Dies committee tomorrow.

After reciting instances when, he said, Dies spoke at meetings sponsored by Christian Front representatives, Hook said:

"The picture I have painted thus far * * * is clearly one that puts Dies in active association with a prominent collaborator of the Christian Front. For Merwin K. Hart is unmistakably that."

The committee rejected pleas of Representative Deming, Democrat of New Mexico, and Casey, Democrat of Massachusetts, of the Dies group that the legislation be amended to provide certain regulations on procedure of the investigation.

Rep. Voorhis (Democrat of California) had proposed such changes, suggesting that the Dies committee meet behind closed doors to avoid prospective testimony and evidence, that no member make a public statement about evidence unless it had been approved by the full committee and that efforts be made to give persons accused a chance "as soon as possible" to reply.

At the White House, the usual Monday morning conference touched on cuts in appropriations, aid for Finland and relief. President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Senate Majority Leader Barkley and House Democratic Leader Rayburn attended.

"No definite agreements were made," Mr. Barkley said.

Defense Club Likely

In the senate today powerful bipartisan support developed behind an appropriations committee proposal to chop nearly $13,000,000 from the house bill for emergency defense and neutrality expenses.

The measure was whittled in the house $20,176,035 below budget bureau recommendations. As approved by the senate committee, it would appropriate $281,822,568.

Democratic Leader Barkley, predicting senate adoption of the reduced figure, said the chamber would take up the legislation tomorrow. Both senate and house were in recess today for the state.

PASSENGERS ON SHIP RESCUED

Only Few Members of Crew of Burned Italian Liner Still Missing.

By The Associated Press

MARSEILLE, France, Jan. 22—Italian officials announced late this afternoon that all of the 412 passengers aboard the burned Italian motorship Orizio had been rescued, despite heavy seas and speed with which the fire raged the vessel. Yesterday off the south coast of France.

Local agents of the Italian line, owners of the vessel, said that "only a few" members of the crew of 231 still were missing after a new check-up of survivors taken aboard half a dozen rescue ships.

First survivors of the burned liner reached here today with harrowing stories of a sudden explosion which enveloped the 11,000-ton ship in flame and destroyed all but two of her lifeboats.

The 47 survivors brought to safety by a French auxiliary cruiser said most of the Orizio's passengers and crew threw themselves into the stormy Mediterranean, where they were picked up by lifeboats launched from three Italian merchantships and two French warships standing by.

More survivors were aboard two French destroyers, Special hospitals were ready to care for those who had suffered burns and exposure.

Refugees from the abandoned South American-bound liner said the explosion occurred about 5 p. m. yesterday in her engine room while she was fighting her way through a tempest 80 miles off Barcelona.

While two French warships, the Italian liner Conte Biancamano, the Italian liner Colombo and the Italian freighter Tecca put out their boats the two remaining Orizio lifeboats were launched.

The Italian minister to Panama, Renato Fiermez, was aboard the burned motorship. Former Belgian Premier Paul Van Zeeland was reported to have been a passenger.

John Adam Orth, 103 Years Old, Dies at Dunkirk

Special to The Star

KENTON, Jan. 22—John Adam Orth, 103, died of infirmities of age at 10:45 p. m. Saturday at the home of his son, Kay B. Orth at Dunkirk, with whom he made his home. He would have been 104 years old Feb. 20 this year. Until his illness about six weeks ago, when he was stricken with infirmities incident to age, he was about the house, read and actively interested in community affairs.

Mr. Orth was a retired farmer, tile manufacturer and sawmill operator, and carried on his lumber business until 1934 when he turned it over to his son, Kay B. Orth. He was a charter member of the Dunkirk Methodist church and served on the board of education when the first consolidated school was erected in the community in 1885. He was a veteran of the Civil war serving with Company D, Second Ohio Cavalry, and was on General Sherman's staff on his march to

HOME NEAR AGOSTA DESTROYED BY FIRE

Special to The Star

AGOSTA—The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Prettyman southwest of Agosta was destroyed by fire Friday night. The whole upstairs was ablaze before the fire was discovered. Most of the household goods on the first floor were saved.

Mrs. Prettyman, who has been in ill health for a year, was removed to the Gracely home.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

SLIM BECOMING PRINTED ENSEMBLE PATTERN 4377

Most important forecast of spring style is the "costume look." Printed jacket-dresses will bloom everywhere. Slit up Anne Adams' Pattern 4377, say in soft, flower-sprayed crepe (white or yellow on grey is smart), and use the Sewing Instructor to hurry your needle. The dress itself is designed to soften and slenderize. See how the gored front skirt makes you seem taller and narrower. Darts above the waistline and at the shoulders hold in softness through the bodice. And the V-neck, with either revers and a bow or just lace edging, is very youthful. The boxy jacket is so becoming to your figure!

Pattern 4377 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36, entire ensemble takes 5½ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coin for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

"How DO you manage to have so many smart-looking clothes?" people will ask if you use our new brilliant Anne Adams pattern book before planning your Spring wardrobe. It's a complete fashion picture, with Day and Night Glamour Frocks, Spring Bridal Wear, Charm for Forty-Pluses, Town and Country Modes, There's a Budget Wardrobe, Spring Seasoning for the young set and carnival gay costumes. All yours—for the tiny price! Order a copy now! Book fifteen cents. Pattern fifteen cents. Book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Blood Runs Cold

By Ann Demarest

Yesterday, Sergeant Long of the homicide squad tells Christine Howarth that she's the one he's interested in. When Mrs. Evans tells that Mr. Kimball killed his niece.

CHAPTER SIX

"HOW do you know?" the Sergeant demanded. "Don't mumble your words," she snapped. "I can't hear you."

"I said, how do you know he's the one?"

"I never did like the looks of the man. He has all the earmarks of a murderer."

Mrs. Evans settled herself in the chair, adjusting a cushion carefully at her back. "Oh, I have proof enough," she said in a complacent voice. "My husband warned me."

Sarah, her face pale, uttered a faint moan. "He did tell me all about it."

"Where is your husband?" the Sergeant asked Mrs. Evans.

She didn't seem to hear and Sarah, nervously twisting her blue gingham apron, stared at her.

After a moment's silence the older woman said, "He is not dead, he is just away."

The Sergeant dropped his cigar on my best hooked rug. "What in hell are you talking about?"

"She means he has passed away," Sarah said with a whimper.

The Sergeant looked close to murder. He was speechless and Sarah was staring first at the Sergeant, then at Mrs. Evans, her mouth open.

"Go on," the Sergeant said to Sarah after he had recovered.

The maid swallowed and with an apologetic glance at Mrs. Evans said, "Well, Patrick's the janitor, but he doesn't live here, just comes in to fix the furnace."

Then there's that Jap, whatever his name is. He lives in back of the store and works for Mr. Kimball, does cooking and everything."

She sniffed with disapproval. "But come to think of it, he wasn't here yesterday, hasn't been here for a week."

"Where is he?"

She shrugged her shoulders and half closed her eyes mysteriously. "I don't know. You never can tell about them Japs. Me, I don't trust 'em."

The Sergeant was irritated. "Never mind about that. Who else?"

Sarah's earlier pleasure in the questioning had vanished and she answered ungraciously. "On the second floor over the shop is Miss Wells and Miss Rogers. They have an apartment together. That's the front one on this floor. Miss Wells, she's on the stage, but she doesn't work steady."

And the red-haired one—Mary Ann Rogers, her name is—works in a swell dress shop updown somewhere, not all day, though, only part time. Miss Kent lives... lived," she corrected herself hastily. "In the middle apartment, and the back one's been empty." Then she added with a sharp look in my direction. "That is, it was empty until she came, and goodness knows when that was. She wasn't here last night when I left and Mr. Kimball wasn't expecting her neither."

The Sergeant swung around towards me. "What time?"

"There was some misunderstanding about the date," I told Mr. Kimball apparently expecting me on the 18th and I told him that I would come in on the 15th.

The exceptional faces of my audience surprised me. Were they actually connecting me with the murder of the girl?

"I'll see what Mr. Kimball has to say about this," the Sergeant said. After a long look at me he turned back to Sarah. "Now for the third floor."

Sarah moistened her lips. "In the front is a Mr. Charles Whitefield and in the back is Mr. MacDonald. There's only two apartments on this floor. Mr. MacDonald does something down on Wall Street. And Mrs. Evans lives in the attic apartment. That's the fourth floor."

"An Artist"

The Sergeant was scribbling away in his notebook. "What does Whitefield do?"

"I think he's an artist," he said after a moment. "You were going about your work as usual, and went to Miss Kent's apartment. Did you knock?"

"Yes, sir," Sarah said. "I knocked like I always do, because she keeps her apartment locked at night."

"Did you try the door when she didn't answer, or did you just use your key to open it as usual?"

Sarah was floundering in the sea of questions. "No, sir, the door wasn't locked. I just opened it without the key."

"Then I saw the window was still up and then I saw Miss Joan. She shuddered dramatically."

After the first shock of seeing the girl's body had worn off Sarah was enjoying herself thoroughly. To be in the limelight was a novelty and she was going to make the most of it.

"Now think carefully before you answer me," the Sergeant told her sternly. "Have you any idea at all who might have done this or how it happened?"

The maid apparently needed no pause for thought. She leaned forward and whispered, "Well, I don't know about her. She pointed at me again. 'Maybe she helped him.'"

"Helped who?" the Sergeant shouted, annoyed at the air of secrecy.

"Mr. MacDonald. He lives on the third floor like I told you. She motioned to the room directly over mine."

"Why do you suspect him?"

"When I was in his room this morning to clean up, his bed hadn't been slept in. Besides, they was always talking after her."

Mrs. Evans interrupted with a sniff. "If you went by that, she could have been murdered by any one of a half a dozen young men. They was always talking after her."

Sergeant Long looked at Mrs. Evans. "What do you know about this?"

"I know?" she leaned forward to hear better.

The Sergeant raised his voice five degrees. "What do you know about this?"

"Tell me, and stick to facts this time."

And then to my amazement the woman glanced at me significantly. "For a moment the room was quiet. Then the Sergeant cleared his throat and said impatiently, "Well?"

And never taking her eyes from me, Mrs. Evans said, "Perhaps I'd better speak to you in private, Sergeant."

I stared at her. The Sergeant stared at me. And Sarah stared at all of us.

Had she lost her wits? How in the world, I wondered, could this woman whom I'd never seen before until this morning drag me into the murder? Certainly whatever she had to say she could say in front of everyone.

"Please don't spare my feelings," I said softly.

Dumfounded

Then I saw Mr. Kimball coming in the doorway and I was relieved. At least he would take an intelligent view on whatever this woman had on her mind.

The Sergeant motioned him to a chair and told Mrs. Evans to go on. She leaned forward and in her heavy voice said:

"I was coming up the stairway last night. It was about midnight. And I saw a man go into her room. It was a man who left here a week or two ago very mysteriously. A few minutes after I'd gone up to my apartment I heard them quarreling. Loud. It was too."

While she was talking she pointed a finger at me until it was all I could do to keep from screaming.

Before I could say a word Sergeant Long swung around. "Out with it," he barked. "I know there was something funny about you."

"Listen to me, Sergeant," Mr. Kimball interrupted. "Miss Howarth."

The Sergeant silenced him. "I'll talk to you later Kimball," he said. "We'll see first what this young lady has to say."

I was dumfounded. It was bad enough to have moved in on sudden death without being accused of the murder itself.

"When did you come here to this house?" the Sergeant asked.

With all the dignity I could muster I said, "Last evening at quarter to six. At half-past six I moved in. And except for Mr. Kimball I've never laid eyes on any of these people before."

I took a cigarette out of my case and lighted it. I was so angry my fingers shook.

Main Points in U. S.-Jap Trade Pact Which Will Expire Jan. 26

(On Jan. 26 the treaty which has governed commercial relations between the United States and Japan for nearly 20 years expires. What becomes of relations between the two countries and a huge flow of trade? This story outlines the background behind abrogation of the treaty and some of the problems involved.)

By ANDRUE BEERING
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The signing of the Japanese-American commercial treaty in 1911 got about one line in the vital statistics of diplomacy for every 10,000 accorded the pact since this government gave notice of its death July 26.

The prominence given expiration of this international accord next Friday—six months having elapsed since the notice of abrogation—merits an examination to find out just what is coming to an end.

Summary of Guarantees
Signed Feb. 21, 1911, by Secretary of State Philander C. Knox and Japanese Ambassador Y. Uchida, the treaty generally guarantees to the signatories the same good treatment each one metes out to all other nations. It consists of 18 articles and, ironically in view of present circumstances, begins with the words: "The President of the United States of America and his majesty the emperor of Japan, being desirous to strengthen the relations of amity and good understanding which happily exist between the two nations . . . have resolved to conclude a treaty of commerce and navigation for that purpose."

The treaty then provides that: "The President of the United States shall have free liberty to visit, travel and live in America to carry on trade. (The same goes in succeeding paragraphs, applies equally to Americans in Japan.)

They shall receive "the most constant protection and security for their persons and property."

They shall not pay taxes or charges any higher than paid by Americans.

They shall be exempt from military service or forced contributions.

Their buildings and homes shall not be searched or their books examined except under the conditions prescribed by law for Americans.

Freedom in Shipping
They "shall have liberty freely to come with their ships and cargoes to all places, ports and rivers" in America.

America must not impose any higher duties or charges on the import or export of products from or to Japan than are imposed on products to or from any other country.

No prohibition must be imposed by America on the importation or exportation of any article from or to Japan which is not equally extended to the same article imported from or exported to any other country.

(This was the article which legal experts of the state department told the senate foreign relations committee would make an embargo against Japan illegal. Shortly after this opinion was given, Secretary Hull abrogated the treaty, thus removing legal obstacles to the embargo.)

Japanese corporations may operate in America and appear in American courts as plaintiffs or defendants.

No tonnage, harbor duties, etc., can be imposed on Japanese ships that are not imposed on ships of other nations. Japanese shall enjoy the same protection as Americans in regard to patents, trademarks and designs.
While the treaty itself was redolent of amity, President Taft in proclaiming it had to note a sore spot already existing between the two nations by stating that senate ratification was conditioned on continued effectiveness of the 1907 immigration law which practically cut off Japanese immigration into the United States.

U. S. STEEL EXPORT BUSINESS GAINING

Europe and South America Increase American Buying.

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 22 — The nation's steel export business is on the up-grade, the magazine Steel reported today.

Pacing foreign purchasers, it said, are Turkey, Holland and Scandinavian countries in Europe and Brazil and Argentina in South America.

"England may become a heavier buyer of pig iron and semi-finished steel but not of finished products," Steel added. "It is also understood England plans to compete more actively for finished steel business in South America, now offering late February delivery."

Steel production dropped one and one-half points last week to 84 1/2 per cent and "appears headed for lower levels the next few weeks."

The magazine said reduced new business reflects previous coverage and "to a lesser extent it results from the desire of some users to curtail inventories, now that earlier deliveries are available."

While finished steel prices generally are steady, automotive demands probably will test steel quotations. The magazine said "larger producers of flat-rolled products have declined meeting a $2 concession offered at Detroit by some hand mills recently."

Scrap markets are inactive. Further weakness at Philadelphia reduced the scrap composite eight cents to $17.38.

Operations declined in six districts last week. Pittsburgh was off six points to 82 per cent, Youngstown six to 74, eastern Pennsylvania two to 80, Detroit two to 91, Buffalo two to 70 and Cleveland 2 1/2 to 82 1/2. Wheeling gained seven points to 96, Chicago 1 1/2 to 92 and St. Louis eight to 83. Cincinnati was unchanged at 74 1/2, Birmingham at 94 and New England at 83.

NEW BROADCASTING METHOD PLANNED

Definite steps to establish frequency modulation broadcasting, which provides practically static-free and unusually high quality reception, are in preliminary stages. Three manufacturers have made plans to market special receivers and the NBC, CBS and MBS networks have plans for special stations. The MBS special station, WOR, is expected to open up about March 1.

Features tonight: Josef Pascherneck concert at 10 over WEAF-NBC; Ginger Rogers in "Bachelor Mother" at 9 over CBS; Kiwanis twenty-fifth anniversary at 7 over WJZ-NBC; Senator Hatch and Mead on civil service at 10:30 over WJZ-NBC.

PLAN PLAY AT MEERER

A three-act farce, "Mary's Little Lamb," will be presented by the Rochdale Players Thursday night, Jan. 25, at the Meeker school under sponsorship of the Meeker Alumni association. The cast includes Lowell Somerlot, Virginia St. John, Kenneth Corkhill, Mary Allen, Mildred Fisher, Gene Kraus, Cletus Snyder, Charlotte Trefz, Paul Trefz, Alice Herr, Jane Herr and Betty Kraus.

Winger Hands

What is the meaning of the surgical phrase "winger hands"? This is a new form of injury which has been observed by trauma surgeons. A woman using her washing machine has her hand drawn between the moving rubber rollers. Often it is drawn in above the wrist. When the hand is released, it is pale and only moderately sore and, on the contrary, sometimes numb. X-ray shows no fracture.

It is important that treatment should be applied immediately. The hand should be elevated, and an absorbent cotton compression dressing should be applied. This must be held firmly in place with an elastic bandage and the hand maintained in the elevated position. If this is done, swelling can be prevented and tissue death (necrosis) prevented. The dressing must be removed and pressure reapplied every four hours during the next two or three days. If the compression bandage is not applied, great swelling will occur and large areas of skin slough off.

Sometimes the injury seems so unimportant that a physician is not consulted until several days later, when severe damage is seen to have occurred.

Children may suffer from the same accident and the arm may be drawn in to the shoulder. The same measures should be used in treatment for the child as for the grownup.

S.S.S. Tonic is the choice to increase the appetite...to boost energy COUNTLESS thousands of men and women can testify to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought them.

The facts are simple because of all conditions affecting the human body a low blood count is most deceptive. If you feel run down . . . lack a keen appetite . . . have lost weight . . . don't give up until you restore those precious red-blood-cells back to normal.

S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need to get you on the right road to health and happiness again.

In S.S.S. Tonic you go after the trouble in two ways. First you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion—thus making better use of the food you eat—secondly, thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you a boost in energy.

Try S.S.S. which any drug store can supply and no ethical dealer will suggest a substitute. The big 20 oz. size is a two week's treatment and represents a saving in the purchase price—$5.50.

THE First Evangelical and Reformed church was the scene Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock of the wedding of Miss Eleanor Janet Zieg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zieg of 565 Pearl street, and Mr. Paul Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Hunt of 481 Delaware avenue.

Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor, read the service before an altar decorated with white and lavender gladioli, ferns and palms with tapers in candelabra.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her flower girl, Carol Ann Sparks of Columbus, and her maid of honor, Miss Jo Eccles of Boston, Mass. The flower girl's gown of white tulle was in a clover shade. The full skirt was gathered to a tight bodice and had an edging of a deeper shade of velvet ribbon. Miss Eccles wore a white tulle gown with a white tulle capelet. The skirt was gathered with multiple gores and the bodice was cut with a sweetheart neckline and the sleeves were puffed. She wore a Juliet cap in a deeper shade of purple and her flowers were red-throated lavender gladioli bloom. Her jewelry was a pearl bracelet, a gift of the bride.

Mr. Zieg escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her Eleanor Winterhalter gown of blue bridal satin had a gathered bodice fitted tight at the waist and was button trimmed down the back. The full skirt was accented with a bustle back. Her small hat, fashioned of blue velvet flowers had a shoulder-length veil of illusion and she wore the bridegroom's gift of a strand of pearls. The bridal bouquet was fashioned of blue lilies and tufts of matching ribbon.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Zieg chose a gown in a soft shade of blue and black necessities. Her corsage was of white bud and red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a costume in a rose shade with a corsage of Scottish heather and gardenias. John Merrell of Cleveland Heights was Mr. Hunt's best man, and sealing the guests were William K. Hamor, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Donald Gander, Howard Ritzler of Youngstown, Karl Rudolph and Charles Smith Jr. of Cleveland Heights. Preceding the ceremony Mrs.

Fred Sinning played a program of nuptial music and Miss Betty Annen of Toledo sang "The Wedding Song." "Ave Maria," "Gounod," "Liebestraum," Liszt, and "To a Wild Rose," MacDowell as the guests were being seated, and "Love You Truly," Bond. Miss Annen sang "O Dawning," Cadman, and "O Promise Me," DeNoven. For the processional Mrs. Sinning played the wedding march from "Lohengrin," Wagner, and for the recessional Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

For the reception in the home of the bride's parents, which followed the ceremony, the table was decorated with snapdragons and budlia. Presiding were Mrs. Charles C. Sparks, Mrs. Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. William K. Hamor, and the bride asked the following members of her club to assist: Mrs. Don Gander, Mrs. George Hower, Mrs. David Temple, Miss Jane Raub, Miss Lucile Brabson, Miss Charlotte Llewellyn, Miss Florence Wood and Miss Maxine Asbach.

When the young couple departed for a wedding trip Mrs. Hunt was attired in a beige Shelland wool suit and a matching wolf jacket with which she wore an angora hat in a hunter's green shade.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt will make their home on North Forge street in Akron, and will be at home after Feb. 4.

The bride was graduated from Massachusetts General Hospital nursing school and is a member of Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority. Mr. Hunt is an alumnus of Ohio Wesleyan university and is a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity and Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity. He is associated with WJW broadcast station at Akron.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Frederick Zieg of Wayne, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zieg of Fredericktown, O., Miss Isabel Gerthmeyer of Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. Don Huck and Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Sparks and daughters, Carol Ann and Sue of Columbus, Miss Eccles of Boston, Howard Niggles of Youngstown, Mr. Merrell, Mr. Rudolph and Mr. Smith of Cleveland Heights, and Mr. Ritzler of Youngstown.

PRINCESS OLINA was not as completely absorbed in her own ambitions or as "hard-boiled" as she had appeared to be when she was accusing me of revealing to her mother the secret nocturnal telephone conversation she had carried on with Philip Vertizon.

I had this forcibly brought home to me when, at my quotation from her mother's lips that Olina, in American parlance, was "planning to put one over on Mother," the face of the young princess was suddenly pallid, drained of its unbecoming flush, while her eyes looked shame-stricken, after one swift glance at me, were hidden beneath her hands flung upward to cover her face.

There were no passionate soba now; instead, she was so still, so motionless that she seemed asleep.

Miss Mary Snyder, Howard L. Barkley Exchange Vows

MRS. HOWARD L. BARKLEY

MISS MARY SNYDER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Snyder of Mt. Vernon avenue, became the bride of Howard L. Barkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barkley of the Upper Sandusky pike, in a ceremony held Saturday evening. Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church read the double ring service at 10:45 o'clock at the parsonage on South Prospect street in the presence of the immediate families and close friends. Miss Evelyn Converse and Ralph L. Barkley, brother of the bridegroom, were the only attendants. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Mary Barkley, sister of the bridegroom, played "Because" and "Indian Love Call," and during the ceremony she played "I Love You Truly."

For the ceremony the bride wore a dress of royal blue transparent velvet and her small hat was of matching shade and material. Completing her costume was a shoulder corsage of Briar Cliff roses. Her maid of honor wore a dress of silk crepe in a gumdrop rose shade with which she wore a matching hat and egg-shell doekskin gloves. Her flowers were a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. The bride's mother wore a gown in a lavender shade with black accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore black with matching accessories.

The bride's gift to her maid of honor was a vanity case and Mr. Barkley gave his best man a billfold.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Snyder entertained with a dinner at Hotel Marion for the bridal party and the immediate families. The table centerpiece was a three-tiered wedding cake and covers

FUNERAL CAR AND TRUCK IN COLLISION

Involved in Accident at Washington.

Special to The Star
WASHINGTON, O., Jan. 22.—A funeral car and a truck collided at Washington, O., today, resulting in the death of a young man and serious injuries to others.

The funeral car, carrying the body of a young man, was struck by a truck. The funeral car was driven by a man who was killed in the collision. The truck driver was also injured.

The accident occurred on a busy street in Washington, O. The funeral car was carrying a casket and was being driven to a funeral home. The truck was carrying a load of goods.

Deanna Durbin's "First Love" Now at Palace Praised

A well rounded program of entertainment, with something to please every type of patron, is at the Palace tonight and Tuesday. First there's "First Love," starring delightful Deanna Durbin, then there's a March of Time episode, "Crises in the Pacific," and lastly, the first of the "Information Please" series, bringing to the screen Clifton Fadiman, Franklin P. Adams, John Kieran and Oscar Levant. The "Information Please" short, laugh-filled and patterned after the weekly radio program, was made in an eastern studio with resulting under-pastry recording. The new Palace equipment picks up the sound and reproduces it better than it will be heard by audiences in any other theater in the state. Deanna's at her best in "First Love," a modern Cinderella story even to the place that Deanna loses her slipper on the staircase as she flees the big ball from which her aunt and cousin have tried to keep her. Robert Stack has the first screen kiss. The new Brenkert projector brings a new clarity to the screen and the RCA Photophone brings new tone qualities to the lovely young star's voice. The program is recommended for family enjoyment.

aid to the Finns if he believed that Stalin's object was to make himself strategically more secure against Germany. Nor does it now seem likely unless Germany is much weaker than she appears to be, that Hitler is being black-mailed by Stalin. It is much more probable that their partnership has become more and more closely integrated, and that what is common to them both as revolutionists against the foundations of western civilization is increasingly dominant over what divides them as Germans and Russians. In that case, instead of waging war with revolutionary agitation employed as an auxiliary weapon, they may continue to promote revolution using orthodox military measures as an auxiliary weapon. The democracies are not well prepared to resist this form of attack. For one thing they do not understand it. For another, the resistance requires a kind of moral energy which is lacking in the democracies because they are overpowered by materialism, distracted by petty matters, intoxicated by words, softened by a false sense of security and disposed to shut their eyes to dangers that are not yet close at hand and immediately present.

as though nobody could step on his toes. An old Tennessee cowboy tells a story that illustrates the point. They'd been in the Spanish-American war together. "Close as eye-balls for 30 years." Then the Tennessee had to see Hull on a "little, puddin'" local political favor. He stepped into Hull's office, talked around for 15 minutes, and then broke into a cold sweat. He couldn't ask the favor. He liked talking about Coedell though. Said Hull was handsome as an angel, his Spanish-American war outfit, but he had the temper of a felled bull. And a vocabulary that was the envy of every sergeant in Cuba. He added with irritation that Coedell had one big advantage. "He could sit there and look sad and beautiful and all the time he'd be holding four-of-a-kind." Hull left Cuba, after the war, with $5,300 salted away.

Hull can still look sad and beautiful. That's an asset. Six-foot-one. Slender. Thick white hair. Bright, dark eyes. Slow way of talking. As though he wouldn't be unfair to a sparrow. Wilson said he had a "single-track mind." Thirty years ago he started harping on a lost tariff to open trade routes, knit the world together, kill the specter of war. He's still at it through his trade treaties.

He has a way of studying carefully before he speaks. Reads reports conscientiously. Reads all the European dispatches. And in the silk-glove state department is supposed to have put much of the fight of recent years into foreign policy. He's the author of the "warrior lawlessness" phrase that went into our statement after Germany grabbed Czechoslovakia.

He's a hero below the Rio Grande, where the United States used to be feared. That came about through a brilliant gesture. He arrived at Montevideo in '33 for his first Pan-American conference. The night before sessions opened. The U. S. delegation was accustomed to playing prima donna roles. But Hull slipped on his slouch felt and went calling. He bowed over the others. He walks to work from the hotel where they live. Just a few blocks from the state building. Works rather late. Carries home a brief case. Mrs. Hull makes a point of being there when he gets there.

For 22 years they've worked and played together. She was a Rose Frances Whitney of Staunton, Va., where she went to Mary Baldwin college. Uses the name "Frances" now. Answers the phone herself. Acts as her own secretary. The Hulls have no children. They've each got a desk in the study. The room is lined with pictures of them and the celebrities they've met. Among mementoes, she likes best a powder horn one of his ancestors carried in the Revolution. Mrs. Hull listens to the speeches he's preparing. Watches his sleep and his diet. Talks about him when she's asked to talk about herself.

Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead Resident, To Run Again for Secretary of State

Announces Candidacy for Republican Nomination in May Primaries.

Secretary of State Earl Griffith of Mt. Gilead today announced his candidacy for reelection. He will be a candidate for the Republican nomination at the May primaries.

Dr. John M. Thomas has been named chairman of the Griffith for Secretary of State committee. Mrs. George B. Harris of Cleveland and Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool are vice chairmen and J. C. Williamson of Napoleon is secretary.

In announcing that he will seek a second term, Mr. Griffith said that his campaign was being planned in such a way that it would not interfere with the official duties of himself or his staff. None of the members of his staff will have a place on the campaign committee, he said.

A native of Knox county, Mr. Griffith was educated in the Mt. Gilead public schools and at Ohio Wesleyan university. He succeeded his father and grandfather as editor and publisher of the Morrow County Sentinel.

Mr. Griffith was postmaster at Mt. Gilead during the Coolidge administration and in 1934 was Republican campaign chairman in Ohio. He is married and has one son and two daughters.

Mr. Griffith announced that his campaign headquarters will be maintained at the Sentinel office at Mt. Gilead.

Mr. Griffith said he will center his campaign on the record made during his first term. He cited: Substantial decreases in the cost of election procedure as a result of legislation sponsored by his office.

Economies in the operation of his office, as revealed in the annual financial report; Investigation and prosecution of election irregularities when such action was justified by preliminary evidence; Simplification and strengthening of Ohio's election laws.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 22.—Morton Gilbert, 42, interrupted his 10-week long trial on mail fraud and conspiracy charges today to plead guilty before U. S. District Judge Mac Swinford.

Sentence was deferred pending completion of testimony on behalf of 11 other defendants on trial in connection with the sale of lots in Arlington Memorial park, a Cincinnati cemetery development.

Gilbert, under 15-year sentence in Atlanta federal penitentiary after conviction last May in a similar case involving Hopewell Memorial park, here, has been acting as his own counsel.

The government contends investors in Arlington Memorial park lots lost upward of $1,200,000.

accompanied by Rev. James Scher Montgomery, house chaplain. Mrs. Borah—the senator's beloved "Molly"—was seated in the senate lobby just outside the chamber.

All members of the supreme court were present except the newly-appointed Associate Justice Frank Murphy.

Mr. Roosevelt sat with bowed head during the service, his hands folded in his lap.

There were tears in the eyes of many senators, including Carter Glass, the veteran Virginia Democrat. Senator Johnson, Republican of California, who ought to shoulder with Borah against this country's entry in the League of Nations, sat with bowed head and folded hands throughout the ceremony.

Concluding the service, Dr. Phillips raised his hand over Borah's casket in a gesture of blessing. Mr. Roosevelt and the other guests then filed silently out.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who appeared to be weeping, left shortly after her husband had been escorted from the chamber.

The house, returning to its own chamber, adjourned as a mark of respect to Borah.

Borah's colleagues decided that the body should lie in state all day in the flower-banked well of the senate, before the high desk of the vice-president. Then a train will bear the dead statesman to Boise, Idaho, for burial.

Many persons called Sunday at the Borah apartment to express their sorrow to the white-haired widow—the senator's beloved "Molly."

In Idaho, where Borah had practiced law since 1891, Rev. Frank A. Rhea planned a simple service Thursday afternoon in the machine-hall rotunda of Idaho's statehouse.

Ten senators and a committee from the house will travel on the funeral train.

Borah was ranking minority member of the senate foreign relations committee, and party leaders said the vacancy on the committee would not be filled until later this week.

FINNS PREPARE FOR ICE THRUST

Feeling of Gulf Opens New Avenue of Attack to Russians.

By The Associated Press

Helsinki, Jan. 22.—Freezing winds from the Gulf of Finland have opened a new avenue of attack to the Finns against the Russians. The Finns are preparing for a possible Russian thrust from the Gulf of Finland, which is the only ice-free waterway between the two countries.

The Finns, in some sections at least, have been fortified and have been prepared for a possible Russian thrust from the Gulf of Finland, which is the only ice-free waterway between the two countries.

Russian Bases Hit
As if in anticipation of a Russian move, Finland was reported to have struck at Russian aviation bases on one of the ice floes in which the fledgling Finnish air force has been training.

A Reuters news agency dispatch from Helsinki said Finnish planes had bombed the Soviet base at the tip of the Gulf of Finland, 35 miles northwest of Helsinki.

Dispatches reaching Stockholm reported that Finnish planes had bombed the Soviet base at the tip of the Gulf of Finland, 35 miles northwest of Helsinki.

Fighting in North
A communique made no mention of fighting in the Salla sector above the Arctic circle but an Associated Press correspondent said the Finns had checked their attack to engage the Finns in heavy fighting near Markajarvi, 10 miles within Finland.

The high command, reporting to activity along southeastern fronts on Saturday, said that at Japeli at the western end of the Karelian Isthmus line, the Russians made a two-pronged attack after "powerful artillery preparation."

One of the thrusts was said to have broken in the face of Finnish shellfire while the other was turned back by counter-attacking troops.

Whether because of cloudy skies or the reported counter-attacks, Finland yesterday found reprieve from aerial attacks.

FIRE

Occupying offices there. The fire is almost entirely covered by insurance, he reported.

The loan company office, recently remodeled, was formally opened Saturday. The company moved to its present location only a few weeks ago. The building's central heating plant, where the fire broke out, is directly beneath the loan firm's office and a burned section of the floor collapsed into the basement.

Damage in the neighboring O. L. Baker grocery was confined to that resulting from smoke and water. Firemen still were at the scene this afternoon pouring water into the smoldering ruins of the basement. Flames fired 40 feet of coal stored in the cellar and burned completely extinguishing the fuel.

The building several years ago housed the Marysville postoffice. It was reported that plans already are underway to rebuild the burned section.

PASSENGERS

All survivors who had reached Marseille so far were Italian and German. Many were burned badly, and all suffered exposure.

Estimates of the number of persons aboard varied from 900 to 1,000. (Officials in Rome withheld the exact number of passengers and crew members.)

Those rescued were picked up by half a dozen vessels, and authorities said that possibly some others also had been saved but reported by their rescue vessels.

The Orizio had sailed for Valparaiso, Chile, and was to have been the first stop at Barcelona. The fire was the result of an explosion from an undetermined cause.

Former Belgian Premier Located
By The Associated Press
BARCELONA, Jan. 22.—Paul de Laet, former premier of Belgium, who had been reported among the passengers of the Orizio Italian motorship Orizio, was located here today.

He said he probably would leave for Lisbon and sail from there. He arrived here yesterday from France.

BRICKER TO FILE FOR RENOMINATION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—Gov. Bricker will sign today the petition forms for placing his name on Republican May primary ballots for renomination.

The forms will be placed in circulation immediately. Earl Hart, secretary to Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, asked the secretary of state to forward nominating petitions for U. S. Senator to Mayor Burton's office. The mayor has been mentioned prominently as a Republican candidate for the nomination.

Committees were announced today for the three-act comedy, "Grandma Goes Hollywood," which will be presented Thursday night at 8 at Central Junior High school by the Silver Cross circle of the King's Daughters.

Proceeds will be used to carry on the circle's extensive welfare work in the city. The committees are as follows: advertising, Mrs. M. C. Murphy, Mrs. J. R. Jones, Mrs. Oscar Lusch and Mrs. Walter Bailey; promoters, Mrs. Ralph Cheney and William Taylor; make-up, Mrs. Robert Stief; properties, Mrs. C. J. Scheffler and Mrs. Hugo Maior; tickets, Mrs. V. C. Kessell, Miss Gertrude Carlson, Mrs. C. R. Clevenger, Mrs. Lusch, Mrs. Scheffler, Mrs. A. W. Baker and Mrs. C. J. Gerbs; lighting and sound effects, Lloyd Schiller; publicity, Mrs. W. E. Milley.

Mrs. E. P. Smith, the director, will play the title role of "grandmother."

Between acts there will be entertainment by pupils of the Miss America dancing school and music by a group of Harding High school pupils under direction of Homer E. Huffman, instrumental music supervisor.

COUGHLIN SUPPORTS CHRISTIAN FRONTIERS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—A broad-based grand jury investigation was promised today in the government's revolution conspiracy case against 17 "Christian Front" defendants, as Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, calling himself a "friend of the accused," came to their defense.

The 17, arrested last Sunday in raids that also netted arms, ammunition and bomb-making paraphernalia, are in jail in lieu of $50,000 bail each. Each says he is innocent of any attempt to overthrow or sabotage the government.

Atty. Gen. Robert H. Jackson said in Washington last night that the grand jury meeting this week in Brooklyn would cover the activities "of any individual or group wherever located who may have aided, abetted, directed, financed or incited" the defendants.

Father Coughlin explained in his regular Sunday broadcast, "I do not belong to any unit of the Christian Front; nevertheless, I do not dissociate myself from that movement. Therefore, I reaffirm every word which I have said in advocating its formation. I encourage Christians of America to carry on its formation."

"Insofar as the public press—not the department of justice—has placed the Christian Front on trial, insinuating and asserting that it is composed entirely of crackpots, I take my stand beside the Christian Frontiers."

He said that, "recognizing also that in one sense the opposition to Communism is on trial, I freely choose to be identified as a friend of the accused."

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover said the 17 had been training to set up a Hitler-like, Jew-baiting government in this country.

DEMOCRATS ASKED TO BACK MARKER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Jan. 22.—James R. Marker of Greenville was urged upon Ohio Democrats today as a "harmony" candidate for the gubernatorial nomination by Gov. R. La Follette, fifth district Democratic state central committee man.

In an open letter to Democrats, Mrs. Cussins said that Marker is a "keen student of government" and that "he has no enemies in his own party and thousands of friends in the Republican party."

Marker, elected Darke county engineer while still a student at Ohio State university, served as chief engineer of the state board of public works in the Harmon administration and as state highway commissioner in the Harmon and Cox administrations.

LUMBER YARD BURNS
By The Associated Press
LORAIN, O., Jan. 22.—Lorain today surveyed damage resulting from a $25,000 fire which swept a building of the Wood Lumber Co. in the city center, destroying $40,000 worth of lumber and 30 pieces of machinery. Four companies fought the flames four hours in a temperature of 10 degrees below zero. Fire Chief Ross said origin was not determined.

PIONEER LIBRARIAN OF MARION STRICKEN

By The Associated Press

Miss Mary M. Leonard Dies of Pneumonia in South.

Miss Mary M. Leonard of Marion, who was among the city's early librarians, died Friday at 3:30 p. m. in St. Petersburg, Fla., after a two-day illness of pneumonia.

Miss Leonard spent the winters either in St. Petersburg or in Phoenix, Ariz.

Following her graduation from Marion High school she attended Hillsdale college in Hillsdale, Mich., and Mt. Holyoke seminary at South Hadley, Mass., and studied a library course at Chautauque, N. Y. She served in the old Marion library when it was located on the second floor of the present Marion National Bank building. She was born in Marion.

She was a member of First Presbyterian church and of the Whittier circle of the King's Daughters. She formerly was a member of the Marion Art club.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Sidney Young of 351 South Prospect street, and a brother, E. T. Leonard of Detroit.

The funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the Merle H. Hughes funeral home on Mt. Vernon avenue by Rev. Howard L. Oglewiler of First Presbyterian church.

The family has asked that flowers be omitted. Friends may call the funeral home after 7 p. m. Tuesday.

British Seizure of Nazis Rouses Ire of Japanese

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Jan. 22.—Japan considered counter measures today against British action in halting the Japanese liner Asama Maru and removing 21 German merchant seamen.

A shot was reported fired across the bow of the Japanese ship.

While officials studied the incident with view to a possible formal protest tomorrow, Yukihiro Sumi foreign office spokesman, reported that Japanese embassy officials at Washington would approach the state department on "technical matters" regarding Japanese-American trade relations.

The commercial treaty between Japan and the United States expires Friday.

"The trade situation not only is uneasy for the Japanese, but also for the Americans and we deem the state department should consider this thoroughly," Sumi declared.

The spokesman termed the removal of Nazi seamen by a British warship as "very regrettable" because the "scorch and snuff" took place so near our shore.

Passengers aboard the ship said the liner was stopped about 35 miles off the Japanese shore and within sight of land off Yokohama. The Asama Maru left San Francisco Jan. 8.

Passengers said the Nazi prisoners were among a group of 40 men formerly seamen on Slandar Oil tankers who were being sent home at the company's expense because of the war.

Shot Crosses Bow
They said the warship, apparently a light cruiser with her name blocked out, came alongside the Asama Maru Saturday and ordered her to halt. A shot was fired across the liner's bow to make the order effective, it was said.

Three British officers and nine seamen boarded the liner, it was said, and "with the utmost courtesy" examined the passports of the German passengers.

The house rule committee, however, called a session to consider the resolution of Rep. Dies, Democrat of Texas, for revival of his committee on unAmerican activities. The house will vote on the question tomorrow.

Barley's forecast of a senate bill brought a comment from Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, that Republicans generally would support the committee reductions.

TOASTING THEIR BETROTHAL

Jessie Simpson, 21-year-old beauty whose courage and smile could not be dimmed by the loss of her legs in a railroad accident, toasts her approaching marriage with advertising man James Stewart, the sweetheart who was constantly at her side during the long trying months of hospitalization and adjustment. They were married in Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 18.

Special to The Star

GALION, Jan. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. James C. Neff of near Galion escaped serious injury when their automobile was struck by an Erie railroad freight train at the Harding Way East crossing here last night about 10:45. The car was hit when it stalled on the tracks. The front end was demolished by Mr. Neff suffered only a cut eyelid when his glasses were broken and his wife escaped with general bruises. They were treated at the office of a physician and removed to their home on the Bucyrus road a mile west of Galion.

While officials studied the incident with view to a possible formal protest tomorrow, Yukihiro Sumi foreign office spokesman, reported that Japanese embassy officials at Washington would approach the state department on "technical matters" regarding Japanese-American trade relations.

The commercial treaty between Japan and the United States expires Friday.

WORLD WHEAT STOCK INCREASE REPORTED

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Even larger world supplies of wheat now are available for consumption than were in prospect before outbreak of the European war in September, according to an analysis today by Nat C. Murray, grain trade statistician.

Stocks are at a record peak although there are signs that within the next year the supply will begin to contract, according to Murray's figures.

When Europe went to war the world had its largest "carry over" supply from the previous season in history. Murray estimated this carryover at 1,100,000,000 bushels. Adding a crop of 4,525,000,000 bushels for the 1939-40 season beginning July 1, 1939, plus Russian exports of 5,000,000 bushels he estimated the total supply at 5,447,000,000 bushels compared with 5,224,000,000 the previous season and 4,739,000,000 the average of the past 10 years.

Russian and Chinese figures of wheat production are not included in these statistics.

This season's world wheat supply is larger than a year ago despite the fact that the amount of wheat raised was less. This was due to the large carryover on July 1, almost double that of July 1, 1938. Murray estimated total world production at 4,525,000,000 bushels compared with 4,587,000,000 the previous season and 3,768,000,000 ten-year average.

Otis Harlan, Old Time Stage Star Known Here, Dies

Otis Harlan, veteran of the stage and screen and brother of George W. Harlan, former Marion resident, died Saturday night at Martinsville, Ind., after an illness of more than a year. He was 78.

Mr. Harlan visited here often while his brother was in Marion, according to recollections of acquaintances. George Harlan, now a teller at the City National Bank & Trust Co. in Columbus, operated the old Marion Mirror along with G. L. Padgett for a period in the 1890's. He was also once a bookkeeper at the former Prendergast Lumber Co.

Otis Harlan's most recent screen performance was as the voice of "Happy" in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." He had been in ill health ever since 1933 when he suffered a stroke during a broadcast with Al Jolson. He had been making his home in Martinsville with a daughter, Mrs. W. E. Kennedy. Another brother, Dr. Ralph Harlan of New York, survives with the widow and a sister, Mrs. Jessie Watson of Columbia, Tenn.

Harlan made numerous stage appearances in Columbus. He portrayed comic roles chiefly. He was a native of Zanesville. Burial will be at Martinsville Tuesday.

the sea. He was interested in gardening and at the age of 100 tended to the pruning of his orchard. He read detective magazines and the daily newspaper until his illness. While Mr. Orth never advanced any theory for his longevity, members of his family attribute it to the fact that he never smoked nor used alcoholic beverages.

He was born in Wayne county, Feb. 26, 1838, and moved to Hardin county with his parents at the age of six weeks. Surviving Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Halifax—heavy artillery, these two—and the less known but vigorous Minister for Economic Warfare Ronald Cross. This trio pretty well told the whole story, purposely or inadvertently.

As I pulled these addresses to pieces and weighed the various statements—not overlooking contradictions—it became clear that they gave more or less identical answers to many questions which one encounters constantly among the general public.

Speeches Have Purpose
First off, it is worth while to note the underlying purpose of these speeches which are part of a series by members of the British cabinet. These great men don't talk merely to get the sound of their own voices, nor yet just to entertain the public. The real reason for the broadcasts seems to me to be four:

1. To inform the public at home of the progress of the war; to keep up the morale under circumstances which already are trying; to prepare the public for great sacrifice to come.

2. To advise the fighting forces, and keep up their morale.

3. To convert neutral countries to the allied viewpoint.

4. To reach the German public and try to persuade it to desert Hitler. The allies are, of course, making every effort to produce a revolt in Germany.

Among the notable points made by the speakers, and sometimes emphasized by the three of them, were these:

Item—Hitler threw away any chance he may have had to win the war when he didn't strike at the very outset, Germany then being fully prepared and the allies unready.

Item—Now the allies have the Nazi fighter beaten (all three ministers claimed this) because of his bad economic condition and because the blockade has shut them off from war supplies and foodstuffs.

Treat Italy With Ease
Item—However, the war isn't over and the people of Britain and France must be prepared for great sacrifices.

Item—It was notable that none of the speeches mentioned Italy. This presumably was because the allies are treading lightly where Mussolini is concerned, with the idea of winning his cooperation, if not brotherhood.

Item—We again had a prediction which one took to mean that out of this war might grow something like a United States of Europe in which all the nations would participate in peace for the common good. This time it was Halifax who made the reference, which already had been advanced by British Premier Chamberlain and French Premier Daladier.

4 BRITISH SHIPS LOST AT SEA

One Is Destroyer on Which 81 Are Thought to Have Lost Lives.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Four British ships, one of them a sleek destroyer, were sent to the bottom in a wave of week-end shipwrecks.

Three neutral victims also added to the heavy toll of men and ships, especially in icy waters around the British Isles, which some sources blamed on a sharp increase in mines.

Sinking of the destroyer Grenville, 1,335-ton flotilla leader, "by a mine or torpedo" was announced by the admiralty yesterday. She was the fourth British destroyer sunk in nearly five months of war and Britain's twenty-first acknowledged loss to her fleet. When she sank was not disclosed.

At Thought Dead
The admiralty said 115 officers and men had been saved, but "eight are known to have been killed and 73 are missing and must be presumed to have lost their lives." It listed the commander, Capt. G. E. Cross, among the 81 dead. Among survivors listed as missing were some seriously wounded.

To Britons, the disastrous week-end was a sad sequel to words of Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, who declared Saturday, "things have never gone so well in any naval war."

But they found consolation for their losses by citing the fact that hundreds of airmen and merchantmen were moving in and out of British ports with a steady flow of supplies and food, and in Churchill's assurance that the chances against a convoyed ship being sunk are 500 to one.

Other Ships Lost

Besides the Grenville, grief to these eight other ships became known during the week-end: The 7,607-ton British tanker Coronel sank Saturday after an unexplained explosion. Her crew of 35 was saved.

The British steamer Proteolonia, 3,377 tons, sank yesterday after striking a mine, her crew of 60 was rescued.

The 1,084-ton British steamer Ferryhill sank apparently after striking a mine. Two survivors were landed, but 12 of her crew were believed lost.

The sinking of the 1,050-ton Estonian steamer Nautic Saturday off the Shetland Islands was confirmed. Her crew was rescued.

The 1,170-ton Swedish steamer Flundra went down Thursday after striking two mines, and 17 of her crew were reported lost.

The 1,400-ton Danish steamer Tekla was reported to have sunk after striking a mine yesterday.

The two sisters served separately and together as postmistresses from the time they were young women until about three years ago when they retired.

They have been lifelong residents of Ashland, Ohio, and have been active in community affairs. Both belong to the Ashland Methodist church. They are daughters of the late Dr. and Mrs. Laman Potter.

FORMER MARIONITE'S CAR IN ACCIDENT

State patrolmen here yesterday were called into an investigation of a traffic mishap near Battle Creek, Mich., Saturday night in which a former Marion family is believed to have been involved. A car owned by Gerald Miller, 30, who lived at 2134 Chestnut street before moving to Battle Creek three weeks ago, was found badly damaged about five miles from the Michigan city by Michigan state police but no trace was found of the occupants of the car, according to word received here.

Blood discovered in the wreckage led Michigan authorities to believe that at least one occupant of the car was seriously injured. Checking the license plates of the car to Mr. Miller, a tree surgeon, they asked the patrolmen here to assist them in the investigation and officers learned that Mr. Miller was now living in Battle Creek but had been planning to come here over the week-end to visit a sister-in-law, Mrs. Donna Bigford of 273 Chestnut street.

Mrs. Bigford said this afternoon she had not been able to learn whether members of the Miller family were involved in the accident.
